Mr. Horton put in evidence the Court record of the formylction. The resolution excluding him from the floor of the Kansas House, on the ground that his presence was an insult to the dignity of the House, was introduced by Davis, the man whose name he had used.

At the close of the cross-examination, Mr. Rohrbacher asked permission to make

He then said that he meant to tell the exact truth before the committee. The anti-Pomeroy men had promised to give him his seat in the Legislature, no matter what the evidence was, if he would vote against Pomeroy. He thought this fact would be more damaging to Pomeroy's enemies than anything he could say would be damaging to him, since he had given him no money with which to buy votes, and his evidence would show that the anti-Pomeroy men were ready to go any lengths to carry their point. Concerning the burglary he said that a safe was blown. amaging to him, since he had given him, no money wow that the anti-fomeroy men were ready to so any lengths to carry their point. Concerning the burglary be said that a safe was blown open and robbed in Cannon county, Iowa, about twenty-five miles from where he lived. The county officials were suspected, and it was necessary to convict some one. Chicago detectives were sent for to work up the case. In their inquiries they learned that witness had previously been suspected. About the time witness lett his former home in Cortland county, New York, to take his father's tamily to Iowa, a safe was robbed in that county. Immediately after witness reached Cannon county, Iowa, he was arrested by detectives who knew that he was from Cortland county, but a comparison of dates showed that he must have been at Chicago at the time the burglary was committed, and he was immediately released; after the arrest for the second ourglary witness and one Knight, who was arrested with him, were examined and discharged. Two detectives were set to watch them. One of them subsequently swore that while distening to Knight's conversation he heard him admit named the way and that he heard only swore that while distening to Knight's conversation he heard him admit named and that he heard only swore that while distening to Knight's conversation. By Mr. Suppson—Wimes did not pay his bill at the Tefft House; did not know who did; Crowell, the special mail agent, provided the room for him; Mr. Abbott, who was witness' counsel in the contested election case, stopped at the Tefft House; witness asked Horton to place Abbott's name on his list of guests, and he said he would; witness atterwards left the Tefft House and Crowell provided him another room.

Mr. Prelinghuysen asked if the packages of money had arrived. Guerin said he had been at the express office, and was told that it had not yet arrived, but it was positively expected that it would he here at two o'clock. Mr. Horton said he was finformed by a gentleman just from Topeka that the mene roy, and in answer to a question by witness, he said that he har so knowledge of the use of infraorial means by Mr. Fomeroy to accure his re-election; witness had a conversation with Mr. York at Independence about two weeks before the Legislature convened; York said that Pomeroy had treated him kindly while at Washington; that he felt under obligations to him, did not believe that he was so bad a man as he was said to be; that personally he would like to vote for him, but that his constituents were opposed to him and T. B. Eldridge; was present at an interview between J. P. Horton and Eldridge prior to the Senatorial election when Horton said they meant to send some one to Pomeroy to get money from him and then present it to the joint convention as prior of Pomeroy's cerruption; Horton said he would give money and asked Eldridge to contribute to a frund of $1,000 to pay for the publication of the charges against Pomeroy.

would give money and asked Eidrings to contribute to a fund of $1.00 to pay for the publication of the charges against operation. Horton did not describe any special selection and the publication of the charges against operation. Horton did not describe any special selection about the Senatorial question when he reached Topeka; saw York at Independence in relation to his own candidacy for the Senate; the man whom he heard talking with Horton about the plot was T. B. Eidridge, who was afterwards friendly to Pomeroy; the conversation took place at Lawrence; what was said between Eidridge and himself was in relation to witness; candidacy; what Horton said was chiefly against Pomeroy; witness did not say that he would contribute money to pay for the publication of the charges against Fomeroy; was present when some loking conversation took place upon which the story of his act was founded, bets were made, lokingly offered, and witness took from his pocket a piece of paper, saying, "Here are $1.001 will bet?" others did the same, and the whose thing ended in a laugh.

EXAMINATION OF ASA HARGRAVE.

Mr. Ass. Hargrave bestited that he did not invite York to have a business interview with Pomeroy or himself as stated by York.

By Mr. Simpson—bon't know that anybody has paid his bill at the Tent House; he did not always stop there when at Topeka, and sometimes left without paying his bill, thad two private interviews with York before the election; declined to state what was said because he agreed to Seep it strictly confidential; may have invited York to say that helpould arrange an interview with York paying his bill, thad two private interviews with York of the say that helpould arrange an interview with York paying with the spould arrange an interview with York at the close of the say that helpould arrange an interview with York paying with the spould arrange an interview with York paying his bill, the say the said was to an underlyed by Pomeroy to say that helpould arrange an interview with York paying his bill, and t

York said he had seen Pomeroy; witness positively refused to state what was said at the private interview, tween these men were not competent evidence unless counsel would say that he expected to connect Mr. Pomeroy with what was saal.

Mr. Hargraves said that he did not ask to see Mr. York or tell him that Mr. Pomeroy wanted to see him: the conversation was parily on business and parity in relation to the senatorial contest, and related parily to York and partly to himself.

Mr. Simpson histsted upon an answer to his question.

Mr. Horton objected on the ground that witness had certified that he had not spoken to Mr. Pomeroy about York before the interview.

Mr. Frelingingsen said the conversation would not be commetent testimony.

By Mr. Simpson—bitness went to Mr. Pomeroy and many the semantic of the mineral parity of the commetent testimony.

Mr. Simpson—bit of the transfer of the that if he would yot for Mr. Pomeroy you could get the Post Office at Independence?

Mr. Hargraves—I decline to answer that question, because it relates to a part of that private conversation.

MR. JOHN H. HOLMEN TESTIFED that on the 22th of January he stood at the counter of the Tefft House; heard York say to some one, whom he did know, that his exposure of Fomeroy would be the work of time; that for six months he had been determined to beat Pomeroy, cost what it might.

By Mr. Horton—Don't pretend to be sure about the hour at which the conversation occurred; thinks it was about five o'clock F. M.

MR. JOHN O. PAGE WAS EXAMINED.

In relation to his interviews with those of Mr. York. He was then examined in relation to his efforts to establish a national bank in independence—He went to Mr. Pomeroy to get information on the subject; Mr. Pomeroy said that it would require $50,000, but that witness could get $35,000 worth of bonds and pay the balance in intalments; witness told Mr. Pomeroy that he could raise $25,000, but must have help to raise oung men in failments; witness told Mr. Pomeroy that he could raise $25,000 but must have help to raise oung men in the property and the property and he him; finally Pomeroy agreed to let mass and $25,000 or $10,000, for sixty or ninety days, without security or interest; Pomeroy and he expected to have money before the election, and would fet him have it on Monday, the 27th; witness went to Pomeroy and told him that he was going home; Pomeroy asid that if he got the money he would send it to him by Bell or York; on the same day witness told York that it was probable that Mr. Pomeroy would hand him (fork) a package of money for him, and, if so, he wished he would bring it to him.

By Mr. Buckingham—Pomeroy never told witness that he had sent the money to him until he mat him at Washington; when they first met here Pomeroy said that the had sent the money to him until he met him at Washington; when they first met here Pomeroy and that the had met Pomeroy at the thinks with him about hair an hour at that time; had not seen him since until he went to Topaka; had no direct communication with him.

Witness was cross-examined at some length with a view to elicit exact dates and conversations, which witness could not give; had said that York bore a good reputation in his county, and that it was difficult for him to disrost him; hever said that he believed every word that York said; thought that the money

Senator Fomeroy was then sword, and reason the sing statement:—
Gentlement — Gentlement — Bubmit herewith a true statement of the facts as they relate to my own actions in the case of bribery and corruption now pending before this committee. It is a gratification to me that all the material facts will be established by competent testimony, so that very little is at issue upon my own individual statement, and first

Mr. A. H. Horton, C. A. Rohrbacher, J. S. Hoke, J. B.
Brown, J. J. Murphy, A. Lowe, or to either one of them:
and secondly, that while I never delegated such authority to others, I positively never exercised it in any instance myself. Senator Simpson, from the neutral lands, often spoke to me of the condition of the settlers there, and as often I spoke of my desire to relieve them, not only by the passage of a bil pending in the Senate, but by every means in my power. When he spoke of letters he had received from Mr. Laughlin stating that his means of support in Washington had become reduced to two dollars and firty cents, and they had no means of continuing him here save by voluntary contributions, I told him i was a friend to those poor settlers, and would,
in any event, contribute to his support; and soon after reaching Washington I met Mr. Laughlin, and although his friend did not support me, and did not promise me any support, still I did what I said I would, and and hence it is certain my contribution had no relation to any man's vote who represented these people, for I never had even the promise of a vote, or expected a vote, from that locality, and it one we lestablished fact

COCK FIGHTING.

New York and Philadelphia Again in the Pit.

Twelve Battles, $50 Each and $500 the Main-Merry Work and a Grand Victory for the City of Brotherly Love.

Again well-known breeders and fighters of game cocks met together in the pit "over the river" yesfour weeks ago. The articles called for fifteen 12 oz., and that all that fell in should be fought for $50 a battle and $500 the main. Thirteen couples

A pair of ratting birds that ripped and siashed on even terms, until New York got a coupling blow that spread him out like a buckwheat cake, and the Philadelphians were again the victors. The Gothamites looked blue and rushed for consolation outside. Time of the fight, 6m.

Sixth Fight.—The battles stand three for Philadelphia and two for New York. Everybody was like the rack of a whip, and at the fourth buckle New York the favorite. They came together like the crack of a whip, and at the fourth buckle New York got one of his legs shot from under him; but he didn't stop his quick, rattling and stunning kicks until he had coupled the gray. The latter came again, and the betters were all at sea, but Gotham pulled them out of the fire, and as Philadelphia Stretched his neck and was leoking for a hole to go home he was pounded and New York pronounced the winner in five minutes. Three and three now, and New York again confident. These 4 lbs. 120. cach.

Philadelphia brought out a black brass-back with white hacking and the Eriche Ylove had the call in the betting, and well it might, for the Gotham bird was a low-headed rascal and not worth teeding. He ran under the brass-back once too often, and get his wing broken for his cowardice. Then he tried to fight a dirty loader. Eight minutes decided this affray.

Eighth Fight.—The men who had bet on Gotham winning the main began to feel biue. Five-pounders. New York had stamps on a white hackle black-red, and Philadelphia confidently brought out a yellow-legged black-red—two 4 lbs. 14 oz. The latter was a top-sawyer and his adversary a sneak.
